

YELLOWLEY ACTS TO REDUCE FAKE PRESCRIPTIONS

Druggists Must Check on Suspicious Hooch Orders by Calling Doctor.

With four-fifths of the doctors' prescriptions examined to date on which liquor had been supplied by druggists shown to be spurious, Prohibition Director Yellowley announced yesterday he would revoke the permit of every druggist whose files show forged or counterfeit prescriptions. He added that loss of permit would also follow where there was any discrepancy between the quantity withdrawn for medicinal sale and the quantity that should remain in stock. Fifty thousand dollars worth of liquor, stills, pressed and labels last night were carted from the plant of the Universal Herb Extract Company, Nos. 533-540 North Third Street, East Newark. This estimate was made by Chief Enforcement Officer Conle.

Prohibition authorities to-day learned that one of the master bootleggers of this city with a large following among west side residents of wealth has sent out at least two aeroplanes of the bootlegger flight squadron in the North River to search for a missing schooner which should have delivered its cargo off Montank Point two weeks ago.

The schooner cleared from the Bahamas for a Canadian port (of course) in command of a sailing master of noted experience on the Atlantic. She has not since been heard from. The aviators who have whirled up and down the sea lanes have found no trace of her. Whether she has been the prey of rum pirates or has foundered may never be known.

Gen. Nelson A. Miles, veteran of the Indian wars, at the tender age of eighty-three, still "knocks the pill" around the links with the best of them. At the Chevy Chase Club, Washington, D. C., he shows up daily, rain or shine, for his practice. The veteran is a general favorite, and when not swapping golf scores, tells some interesting stories of his adventures.

Street, Brooklyn, and Peter Boem of Hempstead, L. I., were questioned by Edward Barnes, Assistant Solicitor of the Custom House, to-day regarding the $40,000 worth of liquor found on the launch Bijou when it was stranded at Jones's Inlet Tuesday night. When Department has heard that Weigle may be a valuable source of information regarding bootlegging traffic because he is reputed to be sore on the higher-ups, due to the fact that he found that a $15,000 commission paid to him recently was counterfeit money.

BARTENDER SAVED $18,000 IN 18 YEARS ON $20 JOB

Commissioner of Accounts Hirschfeld to-day will continue his investigation into charges that eighteen policemen paid $1,500 each to help them obtain promotion to Sergeancies through a civil service examination.

Yesterday Michael J. Burke, a former Lexington Avenue saloonkeeper, testified that during eighteen years as a bartender he had saved $18,000 out of a $20 a week salary and tips. Burke is just back from Ireland. Previous testimony had been that before leaving in 1921 he withdrew $25,000 collected from policemen and deposited in bank. Yesterday Burke testified a man he knew as George White of Brooklyn, driver of an ice wagon, had given him the money to hold a few days and when White wanted the money back, he paid him with the cash that he, Burke, had saved.
